The funeral of William Morgan occurred yesterday afternoon from the family residence, on Sixteenth street, and it was largely attended.

Judge, Shield of Honor, of which the deceased was a member, turned out, headed by the Opera House band. The interment was at the Peninsular cemetery.

Rev. Peschau Leaves Greensburg.

Rev. F. W. E. Peschau, an old Wheeling boy, who spent his boyhood and early manhood here, has resigned the pastorate of the Zion Lutheran church, at Greensburg, Pa., and accepted the charge at Marietta, Ohio, near Dayton. He preached his farewell sermon last Sunday. Says the Greensburg Press:

Dr. Peschau is a native of Germany, and is one of the most scholarly ministers in the Lutheran church. A fluent speaker in English, Norwegian and German, he holds all audiences with the beauty of his oratory and the brilliancy of his thoughts. During his pastorate in Greensburg he has become recognized as a forceful preacher and active in ministerial work. His popularity extends outside the circles of his congregation, and in all classes of society he has exerted an influence for good.

HUNDREDS AT HERVEY FUNERAL

Which Occurred Yesterday Morning from Historic Stone Church in Elm Grove.

SERVICES WERE IMPRESSIVE

But Simple in Their Character—Tributes from the Lips of Revs.
Allen and Greer.

The circumstances surrounding his death and the large measure of esteem enjoyed by the deceased were the occasion of a large concourse of friends at the Stone Church, Elm Grove, yesterday morning, at 11 o'clock, when the funeral services were held over the remains of James Hervey, who was murdered at his home, near Elm Grove, last Thursday night. The dastardly affair aroused the intensest feeling, and it was shown on the faces of the men who had been his neighbors and known Mr. Hervey for many years, and in some cases all of their lives, and restraint would have been impossible had the guilty parties been within access when the cold clay was being shoveled over the victim of one of the foulest murders ever committed in this county.

The services were simple, but singularly impressive. Only intimate friends and relatives viewed the remains at the Hervey homestead, but 600 people had gathered at the church when the hearse arrived, and the little edifice on the hill was jammed to the limit. It was not a gathering attracted by morbid curiosity; it was an assemblage of the stalwart citizens of the community, silent, respectful and sorrowing. Rev. W. E. Allen, pastor of the church, assisted by Rev. Laverly Greer, the superannuated pastor, conducted the services. Addresses were made by both, and the feeling tributes that dropped from the lips of the venerable ex-pastor moistened many eyes.

The pallbearers were Messrs. U. M. Hervey, John Clark, Arthur Carter, D. P. Thornburg, John Creighton and C. S. Carroll. The interment was at the Stone Church cemetery.

Feeling over the sad taking-off of James Hervey was evident in the comments expressed at the funeral, and it went so far as to censure any lawyer who would defend the men now under arrest, who are firmly believed to be the guilty parties by the citizens of Triadelphia district. It is no exaggeration to say that, given the opportunity, a lynching bee would not want for leaders, although calmer counsel might prevail.

PAINTERS' STRIKE SETTLED.

All the Bosses Agree to Men's Demands and Work Will Resume This Morning.

At a conference of committees representing the employers and the striking painters on Saturday, the former agreed to sign the new scale submitted by the men, and work will resume in all the shops this morning, as if nothing had happened. All but one shop signed the scale Saturday, and it will do so this morning. The strike, which began Thursday, was a complete victory for the men, and they are naturally elated over the result. They struck for $3 per day of nine hours, and the limiting of a shop to one apprentice. Formerly they got $2 75 a day, and there was no limit to the number of "cubs." However, the new wage scale does not go into effect until April 1, the bosses getting thirty days of grace to complete the old contracts. The settlement of the strike was pleasing to builders, who feared a delay of their contracts.

There is no prospect of a strike this spring among other branches of the building trades, the differences between the carpenters and their employers being amicably settled recently by the advance of wages given, which averaged about twenty-five cents a day, which brings up the wages of a carpenter to $2 50 per nine-hour day.

The Railroad Taxes.

The state auditor has completed the apportionment among the different counties and districts in the state, of the money collected by the state from railroads. The total amount to be apportioned is $337,801 91. Every one of the counties will receive a share of this except ten. Those ten, in which there are railroads under construction or contemplated, but not in operation, are Boone, Calhoun, Gilmer, Hardy, Lincoln, Logan, Pendleton, Pocahontas, Wirt, and Wyoming. The shares of a few of the counties are: Brooke, $8,911 19; Hancock, $1,790; Marshall, $16,639 96; Ohio, $10,611 01.
